NAVIGATION AIDS SIGHTED FOR HUDSON'S

Government Steamer to be Placed at Disposal of Churchill

OTTAWA, June 3.—In preparation for the 1932 season of navigation through Hudson Straits to the new port of Churchill, on Hudson Bay, the Canadian government steamer N. B. McLean will leave toward the end of the present month to spend the summer in those waters.

Arrangements have been made to ship several cargoes of grain, and possibly other produce, through the new port this season, and in second year, suggestions made by shippers of the steamers that used the port last summer several additional aids to navigation will be installed.

New lights will be installed by N. B. McLean crew, at Bullock Island, Resolution Island, Whales Island, east end, Cape Hope's Advance, Charles Island (east and west ends), Nottingham Island and Coats Island. Light will also be installed at Hubbard's Point by the staff at Churchill, probably using the Hudson's Bay company tug Ocean Eagle.

The department has no fresh information regarding the matter of securing insurance for the route out of Hudson Bay, anticipated in view of the improved aids to navigation and the satisfactory report of the ship captains who used the port last summer, but a report from the Imperial Shipping board, which is working in the interests of the port in England, is expected shortly.

Scientists have discovered that gasoline can be manufactured from cotton.

Alimony Of Only $650 a Month Hers

He Leaves When Deacons Find Him in Dark Room With Girls

CHICAGO, N.Y., June 3.—The Rev. D. Wesley Seger, 20, who hurriedly left his pastorate here after the deacons raided a party in a dark room, really abandoned his pastorate as the result of a birth control sermon, his supporters declared.

The deacons assembled Sunday night to discuss the situation in the parsonage in which they claimed to have found the pastor, two young unmarried men and three girls "who weren't local girls, so far as we know." And the congregation of the Dutch Reformed church heard a sermon by another minister.

CALLS CRISIS NAMES

Seger, in the meantime, is making his home with his father, the Rev. M. A. Seger, pastor of the Congregational Church at Chester, N.Y. He left a twenty-eight page statement in Elmsford to fight his battle here.

That statement, among other things referred to his critics as "a lot of bachelors and quacks," and mentioned his misfortune in being "a young man of considerable ability with a young wife of considerable personal problems of hers."

He denied the party was not a nice party and he denied there was drinking in the darkened parsonage room.

"If it was a nice party and nothing was wrong, why weren't the lights turned on?" Deacon J. F. Botton wanted to know.

"If there was no drinking, what were all the bottles and glasses doing around the place?" Deacon C. M. Botton asked.

MOTHER IS EVANGELIST

Reiter added that the youth had performed "three or four marriages" even though not ordained and he had been employed, Reiter said, on the recommendation of his preacher-father. His mother, he said, is an evangelist.

Mrs. William K. Fulton, whom Seger said, were present at the Sunday school conference.

"There was nothing wrong with the party," he said, "and I was not a party to it. She and other supporters of the young preacher attributed his trouble to a birth control sermon he delivered on Mother's day and to his wife's alleged and false pregnancy."

Others of the congregation indicated Monday that their next pastor "would be an older man."

NEW YORK CITY
It was like Damascus in the days of Jeremiah, but New York has more money.

Yesterday, Mr. Barry, New York's controller, announced that he had collected in one day more than seventy-four million dollars in taxes more than on the same day in 1931.

To some extent, the misfortune of property owners stimulated by paying a man with a mortgage must pay taxes or have his mortgage foreclosed. Many that would like to run, dare not do so because of the mortgage holder.

THE U. S. SENATE on Tuesday voted to tax 100 per cent all incomes earned through violations of law or federal law.

This indicates the opinion that the U. S. government is not efficient in collecting taxes than in stopping crime. And that opinion is sound. It indicates, it does not stop crime. With a 100 per cent tax, bootleggers, racketeers, and the army of crooked politicians will have nothing to do with banks of sale deposits. Even the big tin box at home will not be safe from a vigilant government.

THE AMERICAN dealer recovered in London yesterday. Perhaps you know that it has fallen off lately in the U. S. market, and that Europe has believed that the dollar's value depends on a small lump of gold put away in some safe, rather than on things that the dollar can buy.

SENATOR CLEGG of Virginia believes he has a better plan for the basis for issuing currency, thus increasing the supply of currency in circulation about a billion dollars. One billion would be the less than ten dollars per inhabitant, and the country needs more.

Congress seeking to make itself popular, rejected a "sales tax" but you will find a good imitation of a sales tax when the new bill goes into effect.

It will cost more for letter post, because the rate is raised, and you will pay taxes on concrete, jewelry, automobiles, candy, soft drinks, and other things. The government is looking for a way to get the rich man's money out of his pocket, and the poor man's money out of his pocket, including the honest worker's money, by his complex preparation.

HUGE U. S. DEFICIT
WASHINGTON, June 3.—The U. S. Treasury department announced today that the deficit for the first 11 months of the 1932 fiscal year was $1,000,000,000.

YOUNG PASTOR QUILTS CHURCH AFTER PARTY

AMUSEMENTS

DREAMLAND

Will Rogers continues his sensational career on the talking screen in "Business and Pleasure," adaptation from the best-selling novel, "The Pleasure," by Booth Tarkenton, in his latest Fox picture, in the Dreamland theatre, tonight.

Rogers, in this newest comedy, has the role of Earl Tinker, middle western manufacturer, who takes his wife, the widow, to the Mediterranean and incidentally combines pleasure with a brilliant business proposition.

CAPITOL

He can't go on the lot to play baseball with the other kids. He can't join them in their mud-bath, their races, their games and parties. If there's a fight, he is carried off the lot. He is a moral coward.

This is the stirring characterisation played by Jackie Cooper in "When a Fellow Needs a Friend," which opens Saturday at the Capitol.

RIALTO

The "Big Timer," the Columbia comedy drama featuring Ben Lydon, Constance Cummings and Thelma Todd at the Rialto theatre today and Saturday.

Todd, in the story of a girl who is a big time boxer's girl, is a big time champ, and nobody believed he had the makings except a girl, and the undertaker the unique job of being a boxer's man.

Robert Riskin, who wrote the sparkling dialogue of Columbia's "Platinum Blonds," is the author of "The Big Timer," also writing the dialogue of "The Big Timer," starring Thelma Todd, Ben Lydon, Constance Cummings, Charles Delaney, Jimmy Dunn, Bert Starkey, Charles Granger, Robert Emmet O'Connor and others make up the cast.

EMPRESS

Betty Compson's followers are going to be delighted with "The Lady Refuses," her latest Rialto picture, which opened a three day engagement at the Empress theatre yesterday.

At last she has a role worthy of her greatest histrionic powers, and a plot, a supporting cast and a production of high merit.

"The Lady Refuses" combines every essential quality of film, thoroughly satisfying screen entertainment with some outstanding features that make it unforgettable.

On the same program at the Empress is a Buck Jones thriller, "The High Speed," and in it the inevitable luck appears at the wheel of a racing car.

STRAND

A visitor to the set on which "Grand Hotel" was being filmed last night, at the Strand theatre, found a group of people standing outside the studio stage.

"I look like they were having an automobile show here," he was surprised to comment.

"No," the guide enlightened him, "these cars simply belong to the stars in 'Grand Hotel.' One must expect expensive cars when with Gloria Gaudin, the Barrymores, John Crawford and Wallace Beery working on one set."

"Grand Hotel" comes to the Strand theatre tonight. Red fluff lights supplied inspirational atmosphere for Gloria Gaudin during rehearsal of romantic scenes with John Barrymore for "Grand Hotel." With the exception of the diffused lights the scene was in darkness during rehearsal.

FRIDAY, JUNE 3

THE KING

His Majesty King George VI sixty-seven years old today. He has appeared to the public in good health and is expected to remain so. His Majesty's illness which overtook him some years ago. With confidence therefore that the hope will be fulfilled. At Windsor, the King and Queen, with the wish that he may enjoy many happy returns of the anniversary.

ECONOMIC FOLLY

The Vancouver Province notes, with disapproval, that "the forests of Canada, which were thought to be well protected by the federal government, are almost without protection." Governments having cut down or out forestry protection as one means of cutting down expenses. The province notes, it is pointed out, that the forest protection fund has been suspended, "neither government nor lumbermen contributing anything to it." Perhaps that helps to explain why forest fires have been raging so freely and destructively in many of the provinces this spring. That is "economy" of the public money and pound-foolish variety. Cancelling the insurance policy on one's home should be one of the last, not first, acts of retrenchment, justifiable only in dire straits. Our government, in this respect, is in no better desire to cut expenses. They are only foolish in leaving forests at the mercy of the flames.

AFTER LOOT OR LOOTERS?

The Senate at Washington proposes to tax crime out of existence, by confiscating the entire loot gathered up by the criminal in his operations.

If the public have been correctly informed as to the number of billions of dollars that are raked in every year by boot-leggers, bandits and racketeers in the United States, the House of Representatives, before buying on plans to build more while in the treasury building.

For it appears to be a fact that while the state authorities cannot prove that criminals are criminals the federal authorities have no trouble proving that they make money out of crime. The fate of Mr. Capone is a case in point. He has been convicted and sent him to jail for bootlegging or anything else, but Washington sent him to jail for not sharing up what he made out of the bootlegging.

Since it will be the confederate clause into a revenue bill, the first object of the Senate no doubt is to get money. The bill, however, is a portentious object may be to let the federal investigators on the trail of the criminal, whom the state investigators do not seem to be able to catch.

If the federal government is to get so much money a suspect has or had, they may also be able to prove how he got it, and they will have to prove that he got it through crime if they are to confiscate it.

TAXPAYERS IN REVOLT

It is a sign of the times that the tax-payers in Calgary have formed an association known as the Taxpayers Bureau.

This organization is to collect data showing the amount of taxation that is being levied on the public by municipal, provincial and federal governments, and the effect of this heavy drain in crippling business and lessening the general welfare. It springs from a feeling that governments should restrict their activities more nearly to the essential functions of governing, and thereby cut down taxes.

Just at present an organization of that kind would be popular in any community. Everybody would like to belong to it, and would particularly like to join up just after wrestling with the complicated returns demanded under the Dominion and provincial income tax laws. The organization has been formed in response to the questions of where last year's income went to and how he is going to get the money to pay dual taxation on what he has earned. The organization is strange if similar organizations spring up in the mushroom, all over the country.

But even should that happen taxes may not come down. This is not the first time taxpayers in the country over have been convinced that they should come down, and have here and there organized with that intent. Movements of the kind have been many, but they have also been temporary. They develop in the atmosphere of hard times. But when good times return, the taxes go back to where they were before.

As for the present nation-wide feeling of revolt against excessive taxation it is to amount to anything the taxpayers will have to develop better memories, and make their demands when it is possible to meet them. For the time being the taxpayers are in the grip of circumstance and cannot cut taxes without aggravating the evils of unemployment.

It is the money that is spent in good times that makes the taxpayers mad when bad times come along. When things get better and governments are again besieged by the demands of the taxpayers, hunters who want another spending spree started, is when the taxpayers will have to do their "bitching" if they are to be effectively.

FOREST FIRE-BUGS

The director of Manitoba's forestry service says incendiaries are deliberately starting fires in the forests of that province.

Whatever the law may prescribe for that offence it falls short of hanging, and therefore does not meet the case.

The destruction of public property is treason, as really as selling state secrets to the enemy in war time. And when the destruction is aimed at a forest it is a blow at the future economic security of the country, as well as at the extent of its present available assets.

This is to say nothing of the probability that a human life, or more than one, will be taken if a forest fire sweeps any considerable area into which settlement has penetrated or which is surrounded by settlers. Forests are of more value than fire, and should be protected, whatever has to be done to the latter.

The exceptionally heavy rains of Thursday night and Friday forenoon have resulted in washing away a large proportion of the bridges in the district surrounding Edmonton. The reports on Saturday morning was that every bridge was gone on the south trail between Edmonton and Ft. Saskatchewan, that the Black Mud had been swept clear of bridges, and that the Landing trail was in much the same condition.

Fridays' rains on reaching to within three or four miles of the city, was compelled to return to Leduc, owing to the condition of the track as a result of the rain of Thursday night and Friday. A number of passengers and freight cars were stranded on the track, and the train was held up for some time.

A Discouraged Man

By Edgar A. Guest

Although the trees were all in bloom,
And the birds sang sweetly in the air,
"Ah me!" he sighed, "what buds I had
Through some mischance have all gone bad.
Three vacant lots and all my stocks!"
His voice "neat to much address broke,"
And now I've lost my putting stroke!

The song birds sang their roundelay,
The skies were blue that springtime day,
But as he walked the path he trod
His chin fell almost to his chest.
"My daughter ran away to hide,"
He murmured, "and I have no more to give."
"I've lost my house and garden plot,
And now I've lost my brain's best bit!"

A Bob White whistled loud and clear,
This happy call he failed to hear.
The laundry laid a shirt of mine,
Said I, "You haven't seen the fellow white!"
To such a slur he paid no heed,
A button's gone I sadly need.

I am, I have no more to give,
Just look at me, I've lost my drive!

"I've borne so much of hurt and woe,
There can be no more sorrow to know.
I'm posted now for last month's dues;
There's nothing more for me to lose."
He sighed and frowned, and then he said,
To settle in the rough neighbourhood,
But no man marked the fellow's fall,
And he had lost a last year's bail!

Side Glances - By George Clark

By J. S. Couper

Shakespeare referred to "such stuff as dreams are made of" but I sometimes wonder if there are not many kinds of dreams, made of many different stuffs. They are not all based on pork pie and wish realism at midnight.

This morning I awoke with the promise of John Barrymore and his wife Dolores Costello to visit Surge Narrows for their salmon fishing this fall, instead of Eucalyptus Rapids. Therefore, I thought to work for me, and she introduced me to John, who invited me to make a trip with them on the Infanta. I was quite disappointed to find it was only a dream.

What could be the genesis? I had been reading the notices, before retiring, of a forthcoming movie in which John appeared. A very charming lady used to work for me, as a like in appearance to Dolores Costello as a twin sister. She married a very wealthy man, when she was in my employ. Later they invited me to a cruise on his palatial steam yacht. I'd seen the Infanta at Eucalyptus Rapids and probably John would pay a visit to Surge Narrows now, by where my own little island is, and where the fishing is excellent. And from these ingredients, mixed up in kaleidoscope fashion the dream was composed.

But there's another type of dream that gives me pause. My maternal grandfather was a major-general in the English army. He fell at the taking of Sebastopol. There was no telegraph at that time. Over two weeks elapsed before the news of his death reached home.

My mother told me of how she was awakened in the middle of the night—she was a little girl of seven then, and her mother's sister. Her mother had been awakened by the sight of her husband. He had parted the curtains of the old-fashioned four-poster bed and in a mournful voice called out his wife's name in farewell.

When particulars of his death became known it was found that he had expired with his wife's name on his lips, and the very moment his grandfather had seen the vision and heard the voice.

I might not have given this much heed, but that a sister who seems to possess remarkable clairvoyant powers, announced my father's death in shipwreck, which occurred, as you know, on the night of the 10th of the month.

She gave a similar fearful prediction at the time when I was in the hospital, which I have since, though it was nearly three months before the news reached home. In each case she had seen the dream in a dream.

Science cannot, save by analogy to the wireless waves that penetrate in a flash through the ether, carrying a message or a picture, or both, to the mind, the instrument which changes it into sound and vision. After all, if a few pieces of brass and copper and lead and glass can perform this feat, why should not the human mind, which is a powerful human mental instrument, be able to telegraph, register on some sensitively attuned human consciousness.

Science cannot, save by analogy to the wireless waves that penetrate in a flash through the ether, carrying a message or a picture, or both, to the mind, the instrument which changes it into sound and vision. After all, if a few pieces of brass and copper and lead and glass can perform this feat, why should not the human mind, which is a powerful human mental instrument, be able to telegraph, register on some sensitively attuned human consciousness.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Gov. Will-

NEW YORK, June 3.—Gov. William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray of Oklahoma, who is spending a few days in New York with Mrs. Murray, declared Sunday:

"This nation won't get out of the dumps until the people elect a president who isn't hog-tied by the politicians. Our next president has got to have his hands untied and be able to tell 'em all to go to Arkansas or some hot country."

When asked to pick out the man who came up to these qualifications, "Alfalfa Bill" modestly declined to become personal. He admitted that

"I'm not worrying about my own candidacy for the presidency. All I'll say is that someone has got to be president who has the courage and strength to stand up against all the winds that blow.

"There are only two reasons why a man should want to be governor or president. One of them is to perform a service. The other is to pro-

Mid-Ocean Landing Fields Are Planned

BERLIN, June 3.—A regular flying service to South America with an intermediate mid-ocean landing was announced this year by Otto Bertram, head of the Southern Flying department of the Lufthansa. Dornier Whale flying boats of 13,000 H.P. each will proceed from a German port along the Spanish coast to Bathurst, flying harbor in British Gambia. The next lap leads across the Atlantic to a special ship anchored in the open sea mid-way between Africa and South America. The flying boat is to be hauled aboard the ship and after refueling, started again for South America.

REGULATIONS FOR FULL TAX ACT DRAFTED

Heavy Penalties for Dealers Who Fail to Make Returns

Under authority vested in it by the Fuel Oil Tax Act, passed at the last session of the legislature, the provincial government has drafted regulations for operation of the act. It is provided that every invoice for fuel oil shall state whether the tax has been added to the price of the fuel oil covered by the invoice and shall set out the amount of the tax, if so added. Subject to provisions, every dealer shall collect tax on the oil at the time same is sold, except when oil is sold for resale. Every dealer who will remit the amount of the taxes so collected to the minister on or before the fifteenth day of the month following the month in which the tax is due, shall be entitled to a refund. Heavy penalties are provided for dealers who fail to make returns. Every dealer, upon demand of the minister, will be required to furnish any desired information on any deficiency in respect to vending of fuel oil.

Where fuel oil is sold for export no tax shall be collected provided that at the time of such sale, the person receiving the fuel oil delivers to the vendor a statement of the name and address of the purchaser, the kind and quantity of oil and other matters. Where the regulations are available.

Westerners Use Libraries More Than Easterners

Vancouver Public Library Has Largest Circulation Statistics Show. OTTAWA, Ont., June 3.—The Vancouver Public Library has the largest circulation of any library in the Dominion. The Winnipeg Public Library ranks second, according to the latest report of the Bureau of Statistics. Twenty public libraries in Toronto have a combined circulation of about 3,200,000. No other city approaches that total.

Westerners generally appear to use their libraries more than do Easterners.

While no reason is furnished, it is possible that it is because older settled communities have more libraries in the homes of the people. Although Vancouver Public Library has the largest circulation of 634,348, according to the latest report, and Winnipeg's is 514,000, it is slightly lower than the four of the case of the former and slightly over a per capita in the case of the latter. On the other hand, Victoria, with a circulation of 254,854 books, has a per capita of .047 and New Westminster .04.

ALBERTA GOOD

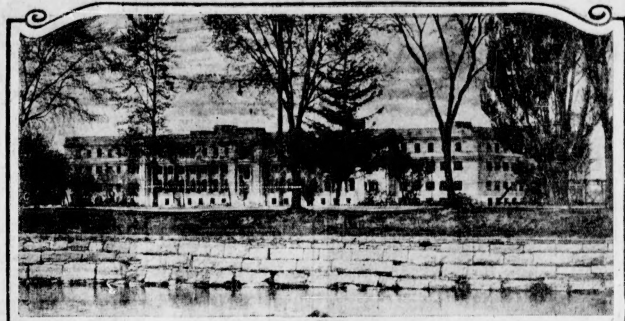

Alberta has a good reading public for the libraries of Lethbridge and Medicine Hat record over six million books read. Calgary at about six and Edmonton almost seven. In Saskatoon, the record is set by the University of Saskatchewan, with a little over seven. In Regina, the record is set by the University of Saskatchewan, with a little over seven. In Regina, the record is set by the University of Saskatchewan, with a little over seven.

roy library has the extraordinary circulation of 634,348 books. In Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, the libraries are not so well served. Sherbrooke leads the list easily with over nine per capita, but it has a population of only 10,000. The next is Montreal with 8.7 per capita. Yarmouth leads in the Atlantic with 8.4 per capita. St. John's, Nfld., has 7.4 per capita. St. John's, Nfld., has 7.4 per capita. St. John's, Nfld., has 7.4 per capita.

Promulgate Rules Relating to Needy Litigants Measure

Promulgation of rules relating to proceedings by and against poor persons in the courts has been ordered by the provincial government, which was the basis of a discussion in the legislature at its last session. This set of regulations is in line with ideas advanced by Hon. J. F. Lymburn, K.C., attorney-general, and which were the basis of a discussion in the legislature at its last session. It is provided that every poor person may apply to the court for a certificate to commence, defend or be a party to legal proceedings under the rules. This certificate would entitle a poor person to a local committee appointed by the members of the Law Society for such judicial district consisting of not less than two members of the Law Society in good standing. The local committee shall inquire into the merits of the application and the committee may use all reasonable means of bringing about a settlement of the difficulty.
